

ABOUT US

The International Animal Clinic is a clinic having years of practice in veterinary in New York catering to dogs and cats. Our services include physical and wellness examinations, vaccinations, diet consultations, and general and specialized surgeries. We provide surgical consultations (secondary opinions) for surgical procedures performed at other hospitals but our veterinarians can assist with care. Animals of all ages are welcome, including nursing mothers. For the convenience of our patients and clients, the clinic has a pharmacy stocked with carefully selected health products. In addition, we sell an assortment of Hill's Prescription Diet pet food for both dogs and cats. We accept walk-in patients during the hours of operation but scheduling an appointment is highly suggested. We focus on the health and well-being of your pets. We hope that our commitment to providing high-quality veterinary services at affordable prices encourages pet owners to choose our practice for all their health care needs.
